

NAZIR ALSTON

is a young filmmaker trying to climb the ladder of success in the entertainment business. He hopes his next project will elevate him to a stature most often unreachable for someone his age. At 16 years old and a student at String Theory High School, Nazir is now focusing on something more touching and personally relative to his life experiences.

Most recently Nazir was offered mentorship from a Producer and a Talk Show Host at the Black Heritage Network Television Station. Nazir was honored with the Young Genius Award by the National Black Arts Spoken Word Tour at ceremonies held at the Rotunda Theater in University City and continues to attract attention and residuals from his work featured on YouTube.

NKA Creations LLC is a brand new film and media production company, operating out of Philadelphia, Pa. NKA Creations (NKAC), is a company that is run by the ambitious 16 year old, Nazir K. Alston. Nazir Alston is the chief executive officer of the business and his father Robert "Hershey" Alston is the chief operating officer. NKA Creations is the film company that will make people listen and not just hear, the story. The Alston duo has recently revealed that they are preparing to put together a documentary film about Sickle Cell Anemia. They have said that the official title of film will be called "Incomplete Cell".

Nazir Alston, was inspired to commence this project because he was born and lives with Sickle Cell Anemia. Nazir believes that's there is a significant ignorance, regarding the awareness of Sickle Cell Anemia, especially in the black community. With this Nazir K. Alston and Robert "Hershey" Alston, will show that NKA Creations LLC is the brand with sight and vision.